

Chief Geologist

- Emerging Australian mining company
- Targeting first production by end 2012
- Senior leadership opportunity

Mutiny Gold is an emerging Australian mining company focused on becoming a significant, low cost gold – copper producer with multiple mines.

Mutiny Gold's immediate focus is the unique Deflector Deposit where it is currently conducting resource extension and infill drilling programs as part of a Definitive Feasibility Study. Mutiny Gold will also enjoy strong growth from the exploration and development of its gold, copper and nickel tenements.

With finance and hedge facilities recently announced, Mutiny Gold is looking for a Chief Geologist.

This senior leadership opportunity will see you take directing and managing the geology department as the company moves into production. Your role will involve resource estimation and reporting, establishing systems and procedures, mentoring key geology personnel, directing the exploration program and mine scheduling.

This position is initially Perth based, moving to a 9/5 FIFO roster from Perth in mid 2012.

This role presents a rare opportunity to join an emerging producer from the early project stage and to make a significant contribution to the company as it transitions to producer. We are looking for high calibre applicants who meet most or all of the following criteria:

- 15+ years post graduate experience
- Geology degree
- Experience in both open pit and underground operational mining environments
- Significant exposure to near mine and resource extension exploration and greenfields exploration
- Experience in resource estimation and mine technical services
- Experience in new mine development
- Experience managing an exploration or mine geology team
